

Obtaining Persistent Links to Full Text Articles

Britannica Online

1. Find the article that you are interested in.

2. Click on “Share this Article with Your Readers”.
3. Copy and paste the top link into a text editor.

The screenshot shows the same Britannica Online article page, but with a modal dialog box open over the 'Share this Article with Your Readers' button. The dialog box contains the following text: 'Link to this article and share the full text with the readers of your Website or blog-post. Link your Web site or blog to this Britannica Online article. Please note that access to Britannica Online is necessary for others to view the article. Use the code provided below to create a link.' Below this text are two code snippets: ' Hmong-Mien languag' and '<a href="http://www.britannica.com/EBchecked/topic/379726/Hmong-Mie'. A red arrow points to the first link option. The dialog box also includes a 'Close' button and a link to 'click here' for more information.

4. Add "http://lcweb.senecac.on.ca:2048/login?url=" to the front of the link.
5. The example: http://lcweb.senecac.on.ca:2048/login?url=http://search.eb.com/eb/article-9117955 is a persistent link to the article above.
6. Test links before posting via email, course web pages, etc.
